Hawaiian/Second Language Requirement Waivers

The General Education Program of the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa, which was approved by the Board of Regents on July 21, 2000, includes the following Hawaiian/Second Language graduation requirement: before graduation, all students must show competency at the 202 level in Hawaiian or a second language.

This requirement may be waived under the following conditions:

- The Hawaiian/Second Language Graduation Requirement may be reduced to one year, replaced by an algorithmic language, or waived by those Schools and Colleges whose programs have different missions and objectives and where students have different educational goals.
- Grounds for such waivers include accreditation limits, demonstrated impact on enrollment, peer institution comparisons, outside evaluation of program outcomes, alumni survey of relevancy and value, inappropriateness to a program or major's goals and needs, enhancing the ability of students to complete their program in four years, course scheduling conflicts that prevent a student from completing the requirement in the first two years at Mānoa, conflict with School or College Program requirements, or other legitimate curriculum concerns.
- The Hawaiian/Second Language Graduation Requirement can only be reduced, replaced, or waived after a vote of that School or College's Chartered Faculty Senate at which two thirds of the total Senators vote in support of the change for their major or majors, or in the absence of a Chartered Faculty Senate when two thirds of the faculty of that School or College faculty vote in support of the change.
- The School or College Faculty Senate or the Faculty who carried out the vote will notify the Vice-Chancellor for Academic Affairs of their decision.
